

GIDEON ROSEMAN

"Gideon Roseman's preparation is meticulous, and he is happy to put the hard work in and understand the voluminous documents. In terms of his advocacy he is seriously tenacious and persuasive, particularly in front of High Court masters and judges. The clients think he is incredibly presentable."

(Chambers UK 2024)

Call 2007

Gideon Roseman is a Chancery and commercial litigator. He advises in contentious and non-contentious partnership matters, representing both firms and LLPs as well as individual partners and members, including professional practices, such as solicitors, financial advisers and recruitment consultants and property developers. He has significant experience of high value and complex litigation in Court and arbitration. He is regularly instructed to attend mediations.

He has recently appeared as sole counsel in a number of successful appeals in the Court of Appeal in relation to both partnership and shareholder disputes.

He also specialises in commercial litigation, commercial fraud, insolvency, shareholders' disputes, property litigation (domestic and international), professional negligence and wills and trust disputes. He has particular expertise in relation to worldwide and domestic freezing orders, as well as other interlocutory prohibitory and mandatory injunctions.

He has acted in a number of committal applications, typically those arising out of breaches of freezing injunctions and ancillary disclosure orders, including appeals to the Court of Appeal.

Ranked in Band 2 in Partnership in Chambers UK 2022.

Partnerships & LLPs

Gideon has significant experience dealing with all aspects of litigation and arbitration concerning traditional partnerships, LLPs and disputes between shareholders. He also advises on non-contentious issues, such as drafting partnership agreements and dealings with share capital, including reductions of share premium accounts.

He has particular experience in dealing with unfair prejudice petitions and derivative actions.
